No two people with autism are the same. And of course we wouldn’t want them to be. We’re looking for children and adults with autism aged between 5 and 45 years to join the oRBiting study. oRBiting will help us to better understand the different scales used to measure certain behaviors associated with autism. We’ll also ask what wearable technologies can tell us about autism.

Please see overleaf for more information.